

Breast cancer in the young, the pregnant and with family history

Friday 16 September 2016

The Royal Society of Medicine, London W1G 0AE

Breast cancer in the young, the pregnant and with family history

Date: Friday 16 September 2016

Venue: The Royal Society of Medicine, 1 Wimpole Street, London, W1G 0AE

CPD: 6 credits (applied for)

The 3rd breast cancer forum in association with Pink Ribbon

Background

The Royal Society of Medicine and Pink Ribbon are delighted to partner up for the 3rd breast cancer forum which will provide a key focus for all healthcare professionals seeking to treat breast cancer in young and pregnant women, and those with family history.

This one day meeting will concentrate on issues such as complications and management of the pregnant woman with breast cancer, dealing with fertility preservation and a review of available therapies.

Hot topics

- Holistic management of the young women with breast cancer
- Trends and treatments for the younger patient
- Pregnancy and fertility
- Family history and survivorship

Speakers

- Dr Anna Kirby, Consultant Clinical Oncologist, The Royal Marsden NHS Foundation Trust, London
- Dr Alison Jones, Breast Cancer Consultant, Royal Free Hospital, London
- Dr Madhurima Rajkhowa, Consultant Gynaecologist, Birmingham Women's Hospital Foundation Trust
- Mr Ash Mosahebi, Consultant Plastic Surgeon, Royal Free Hospital, London and Honorary Senior Lecturer, University College London

Early bird rates*

RSM members: £50 - £130

Non members: £65 - £175

* Expire on Thursday 18 August

Standard rates

RSM members: £65 - £175

Non members: £80 - £220

To register your place and view the full programme, visit

www.rsm.ac.uk/breastcancerforum

Contact details

Rachel Gofton

+44 (0) 207 290 3946

rsmprofessionals@rsm.ac.uk

